Masterful drawings can be produced with ordinary newsprint paper and a charcoal or Wolff's carbon pencil. You will have to draw and throw away hundreds of drawings before you have to start worrying about their longevity and passing into museum collections so do not worry about not drawing on expensive acid-free archival paper for a while. Remember, whenever you change the type of paper you draw on you generally have to change the pencil you draw with - and if you change your pencil you will generally have to change the paper. In most cases it will take time to adjust to a different kind or degree of pencil. Be patient and do not despair as this is normal.
