One particularly captivating memoir centers around the annual Sandugo Festival, a vibrant celebration that commemorates the historical blood compact between Spanish explorer Miguel Lopez de Legazpi and Bohol chieftain Rajah Sikatuna. Through vivid descriptions and vivid imagery, the reader becomes a participant in the colorful festivities and gains a deeper appreciation for the island's history and cultural pride.

Another memoir delves into the mysterious world of the tarsiers, the adorable primate species endemic to Bohol. Readers are taken on a journey through the dense foliage of the Bohol Forest, where these endangered creatures thrive. The memoir not only sheds light on the importance of preserving their habitat but also highlights the efforts of local conservationists who dedicate their lives to protecting these unique animals.

The beauty of "The Bohol We Love" lies in its ability to evoke emotions and create connections between readers and the island. Each story is accompanied by breathtaking visuals that further enhance the reading experience. The anthology is a testament to the power of storytelling and its ability to bridge gaps, fostering a deeper understanding and appreciation for Bohol's culture.

Whether you are planning a trip to Bohol or simply seeking a deeper understanding of the island's magic, "The Bohol We Love" is an essential read. Its collection of memoirs will transport you to the heart of Bohol, where you will be enveloped in its beauty, tradition, and the indomitable spirit of its people.

“These essays are not about Chocolate Hills and the tarsiers and the fancy beach clubs and other tourist magnets in Bohol. They are about seemingly mundane things that define a place and bind its people together—childhood games, songs, religious rituals, cultural practices, superstitions and myths, magical creatures. Here you will read about triumphs that united people in pride, disasters that drew them even closer; larger-than-life heroes and everyday heroes; changes that tested their mettle and inspired new ways of seeing as well as values that have endured; cracks in the pavements that mirrored cracks in relationships. Braiding storytelling with fictional devices, the writers merge reportage with self-reflection;

weave patterns out of chaos and happenstances; and create a tapestry of memories that restores the past, turning the Bohol they love into the Bohol we love as well.”
