The Essence of Classical Piano

There is something magical about classical piano music. It has the power to transport us to different eras, evoke intense emotions, and leave a lasting impression on our hearts and souls. The keyboard works in particular hold a special place in the world of classical music. From the delicate melodies of Johann Sebastian Bach to the passionate compositions of Ludwig van Beethoven, keyboard works encompass a diverse range of styles and emotions.

The art of playing the piano requires technical precision and artistic interpretation. Every note, every chord, and every pause carries immense significance. It is through the hands of the pianist that the music comes alive, conveying a world of emotions that words alone cannot express. Keyboard Works Dover understands the significance of these compositions and provides enthusiasts with top-quality sheet music to fully experience the beauty and emotion of classical piano masterpieces.

Renowned for the originality of his music and his gifts as a melodist, Henry Purcell (1659–1695) was the preeminent English composer of the seventeenth century and one of the greatest that nation has ever produced. His gifts are apparent not only in the vocal and orchestral works on which his fame rests, but in his delightful keyboard music, much of which is relatively simple and easy to perform. This volume is a near-complete collection of Purcell's keyboard compositions, including the eight suites, the core of his keyboard works. Also included are many miscellaneous one-movement pieces: airs, trumpet tunes (for harpsichord solo), grounds, preludes, dances, etc.

Piano students and pianists of intermediate skills will enjoy these pieces for their charm and accessibility. Gathered here in one convenient, inexpensive volume, they offer a treasury of time-honored music that musicians and music lovers will turn to again and again.

This volume has been edited with a preface by the noted music scholar William Barclay Squire.
